PUBLIC PROGRAMS / LECTURES / PRESENTATIONS

At the invitation of Gordon Getty, served as Literary Consultant and wrote a script based on Emily Dickinson’s letters to accompany a performance of his song cycle, White Election, which was performed at Lincoln Center on April 19, 2012.

In 2009-2010, engaged as Special Consultant to The New York Botanical Garden, which mounted an exhibition entitled “Emily Dickinson: Her Poetry, Her Flowers” that was inspired by my book The Gardens of Emily Dickinson. I worked with a board of twenty advisors and the NYBG’s staff, wrote the introductory essay for the Exhibition’s catalog, and delivered a public lecture, marking the conclusion of the exhibition.

I have lectured widely to professional and scholarly audiences and to the general public on my novel and my other books and essays. I have also given readings of my novel and poems on radio and at bookstores, colleges and universities, clubs and societies.
